

New Website Proves Roaring Success!!

27/08/09

Since its inception and subsequent launch just 2 months ago, the new treespirals.com website is proving to be an incredible unexpected success.

We are achieving hits from around the world from places as our visitors are searching for environmentally friendly and ecological solutions to their tree care needs.

Contacts from North America have also visited the site and potential new distributors have been sourced. Rainbow Professional Ltd are now also in the process of updating their already hugely successful site www.rite-edge.com to bring it in line with today's modern websites. Several new exhibitions are also planned for the coming year and Rainbow plan to continue their growth pattern with the support of their existing customers and stockists while at the same time developing new accounts and market opportunities.

The 2009 season will also see the introduction of some new products to the Rainbow Tree Care range, check back in the news section for more details and regular updates as they become available.
